2024-2025 Wisconsin Bookworms Book List (Updated)

After School Sports Club, Let's Go Skating by Alyson Heller

The kids in the After-School Sports Club are going on a field trip to the local ice rink. Everyone is excited to learn how to skate, except Alyssa. Emphasis on learning something new and feelings.

Down on the Farm by Merrily Kutner

The three R's – rhythm, rhyme, and repetition – are harvested abundantly in this story about farm animals. Horses say "nay, nay, nay," geese go "honk, honk, honk", etc. Look closely at the pictures and notice a little mouse on each page.

Dozens of Dachshunds by Stephanie Calmenson

A Counting, Woofing, Wagging Book. A lively stream of dachshunds, cleverly dressed as hot dogs, dinosaurs, birds, bees, books and more, parade across the pages to join together for Dachshund Day fun. How many dogs can you count on each page?

Gus Grows a Plant by Frank Remkiewicz

Spring is here, and Gus wants to grow a plant. All he needs is seeds, water, sun ... and a little bit of love. A good book to read at the end of spring.

Little Nita's Big Idea / La gran idea de la pequena Nita by Anna W.

Bardaus, Translated by Marta Nunez  TOLD IN ENGLISH AND SPANISH  Little Nita wants to make the world's largest fruit salad. This contemporary, urban tale takes on "Stone Soup" qualities. A celebration of community and diversity, with a nod toward fresh, healthy foods. What is your favorite fruit? Which of the fruits in this book have you never eaten before?

Pete the Cat Scuba-Cat by James Dean

Pete the Cat is going scuba diving! Before he hits the water, Captain Joe tells him about all the sea creatures he can encounter, and Pete is super excited to find a seahorse.

There's Only One You by Kathryn Heling and Deborah Hembrook

This book rejoices in the specialness of each person's beauty and ability. Diversity. (A "repeat" book from 2022-2023, but always a good message for the kids to feel good about themselves.)

Peek, Otter! by Shira Evans  EIGHTH BOOK **

Learn about the adorable river otters as they go about everyday life. See how they teach their young.
